

Lift Security

When asset protection is important, Schindler has you covered.

In today's world, securing your building is one of the most important issues owners face in preventing unauthorised access. Many building owners are choosing to add access control systems to their lifts. These come in many forms, from a simple time clock system that disables hall or car buttons during specified periods, to key switches, keypads, and card readers.

Elevators are one of the most efficient ways to restrict access to your building and to increase security for your tenants.

The Schindler team is available to undertake a complete assessment of your building, allowing us to design the most practical solution for your needs. The installation of a lift security system is not only an investment in asset protection, it's also an investment in tenant safety and peace of mind.

Benefits

Completing a lift security upgrade will help to:
